

Serious Injury & Fatal Accidents

If you have suffered a serious injury including spinal injury, brain injury or an injury leading to amputation, you'll need a qualified specialist to assist you in making a claim for compensation.

Those first steps towards rebuilding your life are about more than the legal advice and support we provide; we can help you access appropriate treatment and rehabilitation to enable you to give you the best opportunities for your recovery.

Early interim payments can be vital in this context of ensuring that rehabilitation in place as soon as possible. We have considerable experience in applying to the Court for substantial interim payments. If a loved one has died as a result of an accident or negligence, we can offer much-needed support to those left behind.

Relatives and financial dependents may be able to claim compensation for bereavement, funeral expenses and for the loss of financial dependency.
